

2026 General Election: Who Endorsed Whom

A verified compilation of endorsements by organizations and notable individuals

Wyoming Family Alliance does not endorse candidates. This guide reports who does.

Verified as of October 16, 2026

General Election: Tuesday, November 3, 2026 (polls open 7 a.m.–7 p.m.).

Absentee voting began October 6 and ends November 2. Voter registration closes October 19; late registration remains available in person through November 2 and at the polls on Election Day.

About This Guide

WyoVoterGuide.com compiles publicly verifiable candidate endorsements from organizations and notable individuals that help Wyoming voters understand a candidate's worldview and governance philosophy. We include only entities legally permitted to endorse (PACs, 501(c)(4) organizations, and individuals; never 501(c)(3)s or unregistered groups). Party committees and purely commercial or industry endorsements are outside our scope. Ratings, donations, questionnaire scores, and event appearances are not endorsements. Endorsements by named individuals are matters of public record and reflect the personal views of those individuals only, including where an individual also serves with a church, a civic organization, or Wyoming Family Alliance itself. No listing in this guide is an endorsement by any organization the individual serves, nor by this guide, which endorses no one.

Because most organizations issue their endorsements during the primary season, the endorsements in this edition were made during the 2026 primary unless a later date is noted. They are shown only for candidates who won their primary or were unopposed and now appear on the November 3 general election ballot. Endorsements of candidates defeated in the primary are not shown.

School board races are nonpartisan, but nonpartisan describes the ballot, not the candidates. Every trustee brings a worldview to the board table, and that worldview shapes real decisions: what the curriculum teaches, what it leaves out, and what it presents as settled fact; what stands on library shelves; and how parents' concerns are received. Our job is to show those leanings fairly and accurately wherever they can be documented, so voters are informed. Because these races carry no party label and no legislative voting record, every one must be researched from the ground up through candidate surveys, forums, and local sources. Rather than publish thin or unverified information statewide, WFA chose to cover six districts well in 2026 – Campbell County SD #1, Fremont County SD #1, Goshen County SD #1, Hot Springs County SD #1, Laramie County SD #1, and Sweetwater County SD #1 – applying the same verification standards used for every other race in this guide. We intend to expand school board coverage in future cycles, and local volunteers who know their districts can help make that possible. School board candidates appear in the Candidate Index without party labels, and the legislative-record column does not apply to them; their candidate-survey responses are published at WyoVoterGuide.com.

How this guide was compiled

Every endorsement in this guide is verified against a public source: an official organization release or published guide (Grade A) or the candidate's own campaign materials quoting the organization (Grade B). Candidate-reported claims without confirmation are not published.

The perceived-lean labels describe how each organization is generally characterized in public coverage; they are informational, not editorial judgments by Wyoming Family Alliance Action.

An organization's absence from this guide does not mean it made no endorsements; it means no qualifying, verifiable public endorsement was located by the verification date. Verify late changes before printing or broad distribution.

Legislative Record scores are explained in the introduction to the Candidate Index. They are drawn from the roll-call votes published in WyoVoterGuide's 2024–2026 Roll Call Votes resources, where the full bill list and every individual vote are posted.

Left-Leaning Organizations

Organizations in this section advocate policy agendas that generally run opposite the measures tracked in this guide. The label describes each organization's advocacy, not every individual endorsee. Each endorsee's record appears in the Candidate Index.

Wyoming Coalition for a Healthy Retirement

Advocacy organization representing working and retired Wyoming public employees on pension and retirement-security issues; its board voted unanimously in July 2026 to endorse the incumbent State Treasurer, citing his management of the retirement system's investments.

STATEWIDE

- Curt Meier – State Treasurer

Wyoming Education Association PACE

LEFT-LEANING · PUBLIC EDUCATION / LABOR PAC of the Wyoming Education Association (teachers' union)

The Wyoming Education Association's PAC, backing candidates focused on public-school funding and educator priorities. WEA's lobbying record runs consistently opposite the measures in this guide: it opposed education savings accounts (HB 166, 2024; HB 199, 2025), charter expansion (SF 61, 2024; HB 94, 2025), and open enrollment (SF 109, 2025).

STATEWIDE

- Steve Harshman – Superintendent of Public Instruction

STATE HOUSE

- Betsy Erickson – HD 37
- Cam Wright – HD 46

Candidate Index

This index lists every candidate on Wyoming's November 3, 2026 general election ballot for federal, statewide, and legislative office, organized by race from the highest office down, with candidates alphabetized by last name within each race, with the organizations and named individuals standing behind them. Each candidate's ballot party appears after their name: (R) Republican, (D) Democratic, (L) Libertarian, (C) Constitution, (Ind) Independent.

The Legislative Record column reflects the research this guide is built on, organized around Wyoming Family Alliance's four main areas of advocacy: Sanctity of Life, Religious Liberty, Family Values, and Education Freedom.

Each year, WFA monitors legislation related to these four areas during Wyoming's legislative session. The progress of these bills is documented on WyoFamBillTracker.com, including every roll call vote. WyoVoterGuide.com's Roll Call resource page highlights bills that either passed or progressed enough to significantly demonstrate each legislator's voting tendencies.

For candidates who served in the Wyoming Legislature during the 2024, 2025, or 2026 sessions, the bold text in the Legislative Record column shows how often their votes aligned with those priorities overall, followed by their alignment in each of the four areas. For example, 22 of 28, or 79%, means alignment on 22 of the 28 bills on which that legislator cast a countable vote. Each bill counts once; the final vote on a bill governs, and excused votes are not counted. A dash means the candidate did not serve in the Legislature during those sessions, so no score exists; it is not a zero.

ORGANIZATION COLOR KEY: conservative · mixed endorsement slate · left-leaning (based on each organization's perceived-lean label and the voting records of its 2026 endorsees; see each organization's page)

* Endorsement made or announced after the August 18 primary, expressly for the November 3 general election: President Trump – Chuck Gray (October 6); NRA-PVF – Harriet Hageman (September 9); NRA-PVF – Eric Barlow and Chuck Gray (posted on nrapvf.org for the general election; verified October 16); Club for Growth – Chuck Gray (August 31); Liberty's Place 4 U – Rebecca Bextel (September 23); Moms for Liberty – Laramie County school board endorsements (October 8). Unless so marked, endorsements were made during the 2026 primary season. · School board races are nonpartisan: candidates appear without party labels, and the legislative-record column does not apply. · A dash in the endorsement columns means no qualifying public endorsement had been verified as of the date above.
